Helping Address

They planned for their futures, but were unable to anticipate today's exorbitant costs of heat, food and health care. They could not foresee the current national financial instability or the reduction in governmental assistance for heating and electricity, nor did they plan for their retirement funds to shrink to half their value or less.

Right here in Dudley there are senior citizens who will not be able to meet their monthly expenses in the coming months, simply because the cost of the basic necessities of daily life has increased at a much higher rate than the monthly social security or pension payments they receive.

HANDS (Helping Address the Needs of Dudley's Seniors) is a nonprofit organization comprised of residents, employees and business owners in Dudley who have come together for one sole purpose - to help ease the financial hardship of Dudley's seniors.

HANDS is raising funds through private donations by individuals, organizations, businesses, and special interest groups wishing to make a positive impact right here in their own community. Over 95% of the funds raised goes directly to financially assisting those seniors in Dudley seeking and qualifying for such assistance.
